Photos of a child or baby

If you are trying capture a child's personality, sure take some formal shots but keep snapping when your talking to them after, get them to tell you a story or describe a recent experience and then put a range of pictures ( at 1 or 2 different sizes) together in a single frame, adults just love it. What about babies, The reason it is sometimes hard to get a good shot of one is generally they have flat faces when born so the trick is to make the faces look rounder by using your lighting or positioning the child/ mum so one side of their face is in shadow, giving depth and dimension.

Thanks to Michael Taylor for inspiring all of us with his images of The Flinders Ranges and Mungo National Park at our May meeting night.
Every shot a winner.

The Botanic Gardens Workshop for beginners was a huge success, attended by over 12 members. As well as this one some of the resulting images will be shown at the June meeting.

---

Marnie Yeates Nature Competition will again be held this year. Start taking your nature shots now, ready for the Bunker Gallery Exhibition in November.
Closing date for the competition is October 11th.
More information coming in the next few months.

Here comes the AGM to be held with the July meeting, fees due for renewal.

July will be an Open Subject but it will be a Portfolio with a Twist

Definition: Three 6 x 9 related images that tell a story on a single mat. More details about the size of mat at the June meeting night.

August will be a set subject – “Nature” as per entry form
On the ‘ Marnie Yates Trophy for nature Photography.

September’s subject is “Anti Tourism in Coffs Harbour”
e.g. floods, drought, litter, graffiti, bullying, hovels or poverty.
